A note from Chan

Michelle's Room Finds is my personal blog, lifestyle community and online boutique, operated by Michelle's Room Finds LLC. I share pet-friendly home ideas, pug life, product recommendations, affiliate shopping links, cleaning tips, travel ideas, recipes and everyday finds based on my own experiences, research, interests and opinions. Our boutique also offers curated products and original collections, including My Pug Needs...™.

General information, not professional advice

The content on this site is for general informational and entertainment purposes only. I am not a veterinarian, medical professional, legal advisor, financial advisor or certified pet safety expert. Pet care, products, recipes, cleaning, travel and home safety information should not replace professional advice. Please consult your veterinarian or another qualified professional about your pet's health, safety, diet, behavior or medical needs, or other questions requiring professional guidance.

Recommendations and product information

What works for my home, my pugs or my other pets may not work the same way for every person or pet. Some recommendations reflect research or interest rather than personal testing. Review product details, ingredients, measurements, sizing, care and safety instructions, and manufacturer guidance before purchasing or using a product. Provide appropriate supervision and consult a qualified professional when necessary. Product availability, prices, claims and individual results may vary. Some lifestyle images may be digitally enhanced or AI-generated for illustration; refer to actual product specifications and photographs.

Affiliate links and brand relationships

Some links on this site are affiliate links. Michelle's Room Finds may earn a commission on qualifying purchases through these links, at no additional cost to you. I may also receive products, samples, discounts or other consideration from brands. I aim to share honest thoughts and disclose material relationships in the relevant content. See our Affiliate & Sponsored Content Disclosure for more information.

Your decisions and our responsibilities

Please use your own judgment when applying tips, trying recipes, selecting products or making decisions based on general information shared here. To the extent permitted by law, MRF is not responsible for losses caused by reliance on general informational content or misuse of products. This disclaimer does not exclude liability that cannot lawfully be excluded or limit applicable product safety obligations, warranties, or consumer rights for purchases made directly from our store. See our Terms & Conditions, Shipping & Delivery Policy and Return & Refund Policy for direct-store orders.

Three pugs, five cats, and one very opinionated human.

Made with love, real-life opinions, and probably some pug hair.
